Master Trainer, David Latimer

David trains and handles dogs for both public and private agencies. He's trained hundreds of dogs to find everything from insects to explosives and arson evidence. David's skills in problem solving with scent detector dogs is unparalleled in the industry. He's helped hundreds of handlers and trainers solve seemingly insurmountable problems during seminars, just like the one you are invited to attend. The seminars include hours of hands on work with you and your dog. They also include informative Power Point presentations outlining the science and research behind the unique training and handling methods he has developed over the years. Attendance is limited so get your registration in soon.
